Propose New Basic Law In This State

Sierra Madreon On Constitutional Commission Tells Of Its Report

By E. W. CAMP

Member California Constitutional Convention Commission

No two of the men appointed on the commission named by the governor to study the need for a new Constitution in California would be likely to agree completely, and their report, which has just been submitted, is necessarily a compromise, but perhaps none the worse for that.

They do agree in recommending against a convention, and in finding that the Constitution needs revising.

They submit a revised Constitution of about 27,000 words in length. The present document contains about 65,000—nine times as many as the constitution of the United States.

Such a reduction appears drastic, but the proposed revision is in fact extremely conservative. Some dead wood is removed—a lot of undergrowth cleared away.

A State Tax Board, appointed by the Governor, with important duties and large powers would replace the State Board of Equalization.

Our system of courts might be much improved and the existing obstruction to a change are cleared away.

The State Board of Education would be elected and would appoint the Superintendent or Director of Public Education, thus reversing the present situation, which is not only unusual but leads to various troubles.

The legislature would not be tied down as tight as it now is. Armed as we are with initiative, referendum and recall there is no reason why we should fear our own representatives, elected by our votes. Indeed most of the 190 odd amendments which be-patch our Constitution are there because the men who made it tried to strip the courts and the legislature of power to do harm.

You cannot make a man impotent to hurt without also making him impotent to help. If we have weak courts and legislatures it is because our Constitution was devised to make them weak.

With proposed revision the State could accommodate itself to rapidly changing conditions without constantly amending the fundamental law.

The commission proposes instead of a constitutional convention under which the legislature itself, or working through a small commission like the present, could frame and submit to the people a new constitution, possibly somewhat along the lines now proposed. Whether anything of that sort will be attempted no one knows.

It may be hoped that the work of the commission whose task is now completed, may induce the people to consider the need of a shorter and better constitution for California.

The legislature directed Governor Young to appoint the Commission that has just now made its report directing it to study the need for a revision and to submit a model Constitution.

Nearly a year ago the governor appointed as chairman, Newton W. Thompson of Alhambra, former president of the State Senate; John Willis Eber, banker, of Pasadena; George E. Cryer, recently mayor of Los Angeles; George E. Farrar, attorney, Los Angeles; Will J. French, Berkeley, of the Workmen's Compensation Board; J. B. Gill, banker, of San Bernardino; Dr. John R. Haynes, Los Angeles; Judge Leslie R. Hewitt of San Marino; Irving Martin, editor, Stockton; Orvin K. McMurray, Deay of Law Department, Berkeley; Chester H. Rowell, Berkeley; Robert G. Sproul, president of U.C.; Edward F. Treadwell, lawyer, San Mateo; E. A. Walcott, Secretary, Commonwealth Club, San Francisco, and from Sierra Madre, the writer.

Charles Gilmore of Audubon Court spent Christmas Day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William K. Booth of Pasadena.

The recent increase from $675,000 to $1,430,000 annually, in federal funds authorized for construction of major roads in California forests will be a considerable factor in relief for the unemployed, according to J. E. Elliot, supervisor of the San Bernardino National Forest. Just what percentage of the increase will be allotted to forests in the southern part of the state has not been definitely decided.

Generous Rainfall Comes With New Year; Fair And Warm Now

Between 6 o'clock Thursday evening and 9 o'clock this morning there was a rainfall of 1.41 inches in Sierra Madre, bringing the total for the season up to 3.83 inches as against .68 for the same period last year.

It was the first New Year's rain since 1922 and has been expected for several days, the storm having hovered over the coast in the north since Monday, finally striking into the San Joaquin valley on Wednesday.

At Sierra Madre's U.S. weather observatory this morning Col. Hersey said there would be more rain and that it would be cloudy with the probability that Saturday and the week-end would be fair, with a much lower temperature than prevailed before the rain arrived.

Masons Here Install New Officers

Fifteen Past-Masters Attend Ceremony On Lodge's 21st Anniversary

Fifteen past-masters of Sierra Madre Masonic Lodge No. 408, eleven of whom graduated from the local lodge, were present at the installation of the officers for 1931 at the Temple on East Central avenue on Tuesday night.

At a "Billy" Murphy dinner, attended by more than 100 persons, preceding the impressive installation ceremony, the 21st anniversary of the founding of the lodge was celebrated.

A musical program in charge of Mrs. Myrtle G. Hill in which Dave Buchanan, violinist, Mrs. H. W. Glidden, trumpet, and Laura E. Cadmus, vocal soloist, participated, followed the installation. Miss Cadmus sang "He Shall Feed His Flock," from Handel's "Messiah" and Mr. Buchanan played a violin solo, "Traumerei."

Leslie M. Renaker, district inspector of the 90th Masonic District, was the installing officer with Past Master Julius Krafft acting as master of ceremonies.

Those inducted into office for 1931 were Jack Buchanan, worshipful master; Rudolph R. Hartman, senior warden; Ralph W. Stewart, junior warden; Past Master Harold E. Allen, treasurer; Retiring Master Raymond D. Andrews, secretary; Fred C. Herrmann, chaplain; Tom M. Schwartz, senior deacon; Arthur E. Evans, junior deacon; Donald C. Ashmore, marshal; Thomas Miller Jr., senior steward; Alexander Miller, junior steward, and Ben S. Stelman, tyler.

Local Past Masters who attended the dinner and installation were: C. J. Pegler, D. C. Ashmore, C. L. Twycross, J. N. Hawks, W. J. Lawless, W. A. Evans, H. E. Allen, G. B. Morgridge, H. H. McMillan, C. W. Jones and R. D. Andrews.

Christmas Is Joyously Celebrated

Community Takes On Appearance Of Fairland For Holiday Season

Visitors said Sierra Madre was a perfect fairland as it ushered in the holiday season on Christmas eve. They were charmed and enthusiastic over it. It remained so to greet the New Year.

Old residents say that there has been no time when the city entered more thoroughly into the spirit of the season and enjoyed it in more homely, splendid fashion, or when there seemed a greater feeling of friendliness and good will.

Many thousands of gay colored electric bulbs twinkled on stately deodars and in the shrubbery about the homes of the residential district as the city prepared to greet Santa Claus on Christmas Eve, very many more householders going in for the out-of-door Christmas than ever before, just as the business district had been more elaborately decorated than at any other time in Sierra Madre's history.

Shortly after the sun dropped behind the mountains and darkness fell the lights blazed out on the giant deodar in City Park, where hundreds of children had gathered. At the same instant Santa Claus appeared and the annual distribution of big, fat stockings full of sweets began under the direction of Assistant Chief George Norris and a squad of the Volunteer firemen who had

State's Gift of New Water Supply Is the Most Important Happening In the History of Sierra Madre

By COL. H. B. HERSEY
U. S. Government Meteorologist

The news of the allocation of water from the Big Santa Anita dam to Sierra Madre by the State Division of Water Resources is the greatest piece of good news this city has ever had printed.

It is only when one stops for a moment to review the whole water situation in Southern California that the magnitude of this event can be understood.

All Southern California depends on water for its very life. The only limit of its growth, of its development and progress, is water. This has come to be recognized more than ever in late years due to the general lowering of the water level in practically all sections.

As the water level sinks lower and lower the cost of pumping increases greatly. There is absolutely no escape from these conditions. And as the vacant lots in the many communities are built upon and additional families must be supplied with water the situation will become more and more acute.

One man, discussing this matter with me, said we already have enough water for our present population; we are not growing much, so why go to the expense of going after water we do not need.

I asked him if he did not want Sierra Madre to grow and he said very frankly that he did not.

Well, that is one way of looking at it and he has a perfect right to his view of the matter.

But there is one important point he overlooked entirely and that is that we are pumping, at a very considerable expense, a large proportion of the water we now use. We are now pumping that water from a steadily receding water level, which means that the expense of pumping will continually increase and perhaps eventually the water level will fall below the reach of our pumps.

That could easily occur without any important increase of population in Sierra Madre due to the steady and continued growth of our neighboring towns and communities.

But now comes this gift of fortune from the "Mother Mountain" to her fair daughter nestling in the sunshine at her feet, through the legal hands of our grand old State.

It is a gift of life for the future to meet any growth that may occur, a promise that our trees, our gardens, our flowers and our homes may never suffer from thirst. And that without bringing it many long miles across the desert and climbing over mountains to reach us. There is not even the expense of deep pumping attached to it. The saving from the present cost of pumping should in a few years repay the expense of installing the mains and other necessary equipment.

Truly Sierra Madre can now face the future with a smile of satisfaction and a sense of security, for in Southern California with water all things are possible, but without water there is only death.

Quick Work To Take Over Dam Waters

City Must Move In Two Months For New Supply From The Santa Anita

Sierra Madre must move within two months to avail itself of the State's grant of waters from the Santa Anita that make it the most envied of all California cities—one with a guaranteed water supply greater than its maximum requirements.

Engineers are now checking the flow of water back of the dam in Big Santa Anita Canyon to see how nearly it will come to meeting the waters allocated, for at the same time that Sierra Madre was given its award, Arcadia was apportioned a lesser amount and an allowance was made the Cook-Woodley interests, owners of the Oakwood tract on the easterly side of Double Drive. All three of the water grants require that the beneficiaries shall begin construction of mains to take over the water apportioned before March 1 of this year. It is probable that it will be found to their advantage to work in concert, especially the cities of Arcadia and Sierra Madre.

Arcadia has already shown a desire to cooperate with this city in the building of whatever dam is necessary and the laying of one instead of several pipe lines from the point of diversion. Through such cooperation the cost of bringing the waters down the mountain side would be reduced at least one half.

The engineers have not yet been able to figure out the exact requirements in the matter of pipe line construction, but this and related subjects will be taken up at conferences between the Councils of the two cities, both of which are impressed with the necessity of quickly deciding upon a program which can be initiated before the deadline specified in the permits issued by the State Department of Public Works.

Construction of a diversion dam in the stream below the dam is one of the known necessities. From this dam waters will be piped, in the case of Sierra Madre probably to the Mira Monte reservoir.

Ruby Once Owned Here One Of World's Most Famous Gems

E. J. (Lucky) Baldwin's 25-carat ruby, which was in the jewel collection recently sold for a million dollars, is worth a lot more than $100,000 and is one of the world's rarest gems, according to Harry Winston, New York gem collector and its present owner. Most of the stones composing the famous collection were acquired by Baldwin while he resided here. Their sale attracted wide attention and for days they were under constant guard by armed men.

When he bought the ruby it was in pendant shape but Winston says it is best suited for mounting in a ring, which he proposes to have done.

"What makes the ruby unique," said Winston, "is that while there are many famous diamonds, this is the only known famous ruby. Nearly all large rubies are slightly striated. This one is virtually flawless. Its early history is mysterious but it undoubtedly came originally from a Burmese king who was pressed for cash. Such a stone enters the market about once in a century."

After the luncheon which is served at noon, the devotions will be led by Mrs. Harry A. Rimmer. Miss Fraas will speak at 2 o'clock of her work in Africa, presenting especially the little-known, and very mysterious Pygmies.

They live in the vast forest of Central Africa, which is so dense and overgrown, that in many parts the sun never penetrates it.

Fire In The Hills Gives City A Scare

Dangerous Blaze Overcome By Quick Work Of Firemen Aided By Weather

Sierra Madre had a nervous hour or so on Wednesday afternoon when the fire siren drew the city's attention to a huge column of smoke mounting into the sky in the mountains just beyond the northern boundary line and in the general direction of Roberts Camp and the Quarterway, along the Mt. Wilson Trail.

The alarm was sounded at 2:50. It was the third brush fire discovered in Little Santa Anita canyon within five hours. Two other small blazes were extinguished about noon, without any alarm being given.

The one that sent firemen from this city, Pasadena and Arcadia scurrying into the mountains is believed to have been started at about the same time as the others and to have smoldered in the brush for a couple of hours before the smoke attracted attention to it at Roberts Camp.

All three of the fires were within a mile of each other along the trail and believing that they were of incendiary origin patrolmen, foresters and deputy sheriffs were sent over the trails in an effort to apprehend the person responsible. The only person taken to the district sheriff's headquarters was later released and his name not made public.

Fifty fire fighters were at the scene of the fire within 15 minutes after the alarm was sounded and they fought furiously to bring the blaze under control. The brush had by that time burned over about two acres. It had spread over several more acres before it was finally extinguished about midnight, though a score or more of the firemen remained at the scene throughout the night lest the wind stir up sparks or embers.

Only a slight breeze was stirring when the blaze was discovered. This and the low humidity prevented what the firemen said would have been a most serious fire.

WALDO LORN HEASLEY ARRIVES HERE ON HIS MOTHER'S BIRTHDAY

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Heasley of 536 Oakdale drive, are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a son, Waldo Lorn, at the Pasadena Hospital on Sunday evening. Incidentally Sunday was the birthday of Mrs. Heasley. The baby has been named after Mr. Heasley's brother, of Natrona, Penn. Mr. Heasley is a member of the Volunteer Fire Department and lessee of the municipal swimming pool. Both mother and son are reported to be doing nicely.

WOMEN GIVE XMAS PARTY FOR DISABLED MEN AT SAWTELLE

One hundred and fifty men in Wards 7 and 8 of the Sawtelle Hospital enjoyed the annual Christmas party sponsored by the Sierra Madre Woman's Club, last Tuesday afternoon in Sawtelle. Mrs. Phillip Senour was chairman of the committee. Mrs. Roy Embree and Mrs. George Lehner attended the hospital with Mrs. Senour.

Francis Eakman, assisted by Mrs. Leslie Gaze, gave several vocal selections. Aleck Gablinski of Monrovia, played several piano and piano accordion selections. Dorothy Wagner, a pupil of Michio Ito was the dancer on the program.

Package gifts were distributed to 57 men and cookies and fruit were given to 150 persons.

New Leaders Of Kiwanis Take Office

Heavily Armed Policemen Escort President To His Official Duties

By Jack Hosford

A blanket of gloom and disappointment spread over the luncheon of the Kiwanis Club Tuesday noon when Charles Klunk, outgoing president, called the members to order for the yearly installation of officers without the presence of Waverly Pratt, newly elected president, and Frank Spencer, newly elected vice-president.

For a quarter of an hour food was slowly forced down dry throats when Vint Fleming and Frank Spencer burst into the room with starting news. They announced they had found Waverly Pratt in the custody of two officers and with much ado persuaded the officers to bring the prisoner with them to the luncheon.

Then the prisoner appeared, handcuffed and with a ball and chain attached to one ankle, and walking between two uniformed and heavily armed officers. Mr. Klunk immediately questioned the officers and was almost staggered when one of the cops produced a pint of amber colored fluid.

President Charlie invited the officers to lunch and promptly fined the late Kiwanians for their tardiness.

The meeting continued with more spirit with the arrival of the club's newly but somewhat handicapped president, when he was introduced. During the frequent clanking of chains Frank Lane, Lieutenant-Governor of the California-Nevada Kiwanis district, complimented Past President Klunk for his splendid work during the past year. He especially praised Mr. Klunk for building up the membership of the club, through his series of splendid meals and programs, 58 per cent.

Mr. Klunk announced that the Kiwanis Club of Sierra Madre had furnished the school children here, during the past year, with 2500 bottles of milk.

Just before adjourning, President Waverly Pratt was released from his manacles upon promising to do his utmost to make the coming year a successful and enjoyable one.

Assure Work For All Help In New Year

Expansion Program Guarantees Employment Of Edison Employees

The Southern California Edison Company Ltd., anticipates the addition of 350,000 horsepower of new business on its lines during 1931, according to an announcement made here today by Fred Schwartz, manager of the Sierra Madre-Monrovia district, upon his return from the company's annual meeting of district managers and district superintendents December 30 at the Biltmore Hotel in Los Angeles.

"The development of industry and agriculture and new domestic requirements in 1931 will add 350,000 horsepower of new business to the load of the Edison company throughout its Southern

Big Things In City's Life During 1930

Got Several "Good Breaks" That Were Genuine Cause For Rejoicing

By far the outstanding event in the affairs of Sierra Madre during the year just closed was the order issued by the State Department of Public Works guaranteeing the city's future by an allocation of water from Santa Anita dam sufficient to care for any population it is possible to crowd within the city's borders.

Had not this rare good fortune come in the closing days of 1930 the construction and dedication of the city's beautiful new Spanish school building—one of the very finest in all of California—would have been the crowning event of the year.

Of scarcely less importance in the matter of public improvements, though not visible and the object of continual admiration, was the enlargement and replacement of the city's system of water distribution by the laying of approximately seven miles of new pipe and the installation of new machinery and larger mains that have increased the water supply while reducing the cost of its production.

The city was singularly fortunate in the absence of fire losses of any importance, either in the city proper or in the adjoining mountains that are always a source of apprehension during the long, dry summers. Until the siren announced a fire on the Mt. Wilson Trail near the quarterway and a dense column of smoke rose above the mountains on the afternoon of December 29, there had been only 19 fire alarms during the whole year, none of the fires threatening great danger.

A majority of the population had come to expect that the long sought improvement and extension of Central avenue to give the city an outlet to Pasadena and the West would be underway if not completed before the passing of 1930 and for a time the prospects seemed good that this fond hope of the city's betterment would be realized. But it is reported that warring paving interests have been successful in blocking the improvement in the hope that they will be able to secure a compromise on the character of materials to be used so that each will get some if not all of the work ultimately to be done. Sierra Madre has been ready to proceed with its end of the undertaking for months, the delay having been caused in other sections of the improvement district.

Many Social Events Mark Observance

Hospitality Stands Out In Sierra Madre's Homely Holiday Activity

Home-comings, family reunions, and open hearted hospitality have marked the present holiday season probably more generally than any other in Sierra Madre's history. It is estimated that visiting relatives and friends were entertained in considerably more than a majority of the homes here on Christmas Day and that there were more out of town visitors then than at any other time since the Wistaria Fete of last April, when the city was host to all of the Southland.

Though much of the local population went off to see the Tournament of Roses parade in Pasadena yesterday, the custom of neighboring New Year calls was more generally observed than heretofore and the entertainment of out of town guests was almost as general as on Christmas.

The most notable social event of the week was the midnight frolic at the Woman's Club on Wednesday night, sponsored by the Juniors of the club when the New Year was joyously greeted by a very large party, though there were many private New Year's eve events that brought scores of guests from out of the city.

A family dinner at noon Christmas Day was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Shippey, 297 Neher drive, for their children, Sylvia, Charles, Frank, Henry and John; Mrs. Babin, mother of Mrs. Shippey, and S. R. Stearns of Los Angeles. Mrs. Shippey's mother, Mrs. E. K. Shippey, entertained the group at her Long Beach home in the afternoon.

Local Stars Will Shine At A Concert

Galaxy Of Composers, Singers And Dancers to Perform Here January 10

Patrons of the arts are to be offered an unusual entertainment when Frances and Rosemary Stack, local dancers and pupils of Michio Ito, make a farewell appearance in this vicinity at the new Sierra Madre School Auditorium on Saturday evening, January 10.

Song, pianoforte and drama will also have a place on the program, for the two young women are to be assisted by several artists of prominence in Southern California: Oscar Rasbach, composer-pianist, Janet Stevenson Wood, soprano, Helen March, dramatic reader, and Raymond Sachse, pianist-accompanist.

The Misses Stack will be remembered for their beautiful dancing in Sierra Madre last autumn at the Community Concert sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. They have appeared at other times at the California Arts Club in Los Angeles and at the Hollywood Bowl with Mr. Ito, the Japanese virtuoso. They will interpret this latter artist's dances on their farewell program, with one exception—Debusay's Claire de Lune, which they composed together after completing this past summer. In the Spring the dancers are leaving for Europe to continue their study in Germany, France and Spain.

Janet Stevenson Wood, well known soprano, will contribute two song groups, accompanied by Oscar Rasbach, whose composition Trees has become an American classic. The second group will be the latest compositions of Mr. Rasbach, "Promise," "Flanders Field," and "Mountains." These compositions are comparatively new to the musical world, although "Flanders Field" was sung by Mrs. Wood over KPSP on Armistice Day.

Raymond Sachse, who will play a Schuman number on the piano and accompany the dancers, is a clever young pianist who received his musical training in the New England Conservatoire or Music, the Master course with Mr. Ito

Boston, and studied in New York with Arthur Friedheim.

Helen March has appeared in programs at the Ambassador and Biltmore Hotels and many leading Women's Clubs in and around Los Angeles. She has also taken part in productions at the Pasadena Community Theatre and Workshop. Her contributions will be the beautiful poem, "Patterns," by Amy Lowell; "Moving Day" in Shakespeare's London, a satirical sketch by Bishop, and a group of vivid Roumanian folk songs.

Christmas Doubly Important To Six Sierra Madreans

Christmas had a double significance to at least six Sierra Madreans. It was the anniversary of their birth as well as the world's greatest holiday and day of rejoicing and good will. Those so fortunate as to have been born on Christmas Day are Mrs. C. M. Clark, Mrs. Charles Young, Mrs. Louise Roe, Margie Bergin, George Scott and Egbert Embree.

IN YOUR GARDEN

Who can plant sweet peas until March and have these gay and beautiful flowers at their very best for more than six months in the year are fortunate, indeed. Our seeds planted about August 1 amply reward the home gardener with gorgeous blooms in 100 days or less and the plantings that go in a little later than this come into things of rare beauty in only a very little longer time, so that we may have brilliant color and cheerfulness in the garden and in the home from November until July if we were to raise nothing but sweet peas.

The plantings that will go into the ground during the next couple of weeks will give the delightful effect in the gardens that we so much want to have for our own satisfaction and as a matter of civic pride, for they will very greatly add to the appearance of the whole city when many thousands come to our Wistaria Fete and when we want to look our really best as a community—to wear our "best bib and tucker."

The Early Flowering Spencer Sweet Peas have been developed particularly for outdoor winter bloom, where it does not get cold enough to freeze them. These are the large flowering long-stemmed sweet peas, and are a great improvement in comparison with those older types of years ago.

Your sweet peas will be no better than the soil preparations you make for them. It is a common practice among successful Sweet Pea growers to dig a trench 18 to 24 inches deep and mix thoroughly with the soil, barnyard fertilizer, sheep manure or in the absence of these, a liberal quantity of steamed bonemeal, and a few pounds of agricultural sulphur. The soil should contain considerable humus such as leaf mold or any other organic matter.

In freshly turned soil, open a furrow three or four inches deep, sow the seeds at the bottom of this furrow at the rate of about one ounce to about 30 or 40 feet. Cover the seed to a depth of one inch, firm the soil to the seed, leaving a loose mulch of soil on top. Do not sprinkle or irrigate for with proper soil preparation in advance of planting there should be sufficient moisture to germinate the seeds without the application of additional water. Sprinkling crusts the surface, excludes the air, and sometimes causes poor germination.

Provide a trellis and train the young plants up as soon as they have tendrils. While the plants are young they should be thinned, to give them room to develop. The flowers should be picked every day after blooming season commences. If left to mature seeds, the flowering season will be shortened, for once the plant has succeeded in maturing its seeds, it has completed its life cycle. It is well to keep sweet peas

By JESSIE WARD RUSSELL
WINTER FLOWERING PLANTS

Camellias—The exquisite, wax-like blossoms of the camellia have made this plant very popular for the landscaped garden. It will thrive best in a shady or at least partially shady location. It begins to bloom shortly before Christmas and continues for two or three months. The plant is fairly hardy to cold. It does not like too much fertilizer. It can be supplied in several colors but the variety called Pink Perfection is by far the favorite. It is very double and perfectly formed. The color is a soft, shell-pink. It is reproduced by cuttings but is difficult to root and very slow growing.

Daphne—This shrub is in a class with the Camellia. It has dark green foliage similar to the Camellia but its flowers are borne in clusters at the terminals of the branches. During the winter months it is covered with these blossoms which are famous for their delightful perfume. The Daphne will grow in either sun or shade, and its growth is low and spreading.

Heathers—There are a great many varieties of Heather or Erica. They all seem to thrive here in our mild climate. Most of them bloom in the winter, too. The favorite variety for the garden is Erica Melanthera or "Christmas Heather." This variety is covered with lavender-pink flowers from December until March. The long sprays of flowers are splendid for cutting for bouquets and for a mass of color in the garden, it is one of the most desirable of the winter flowering shrubs.

Erica Reginmaria is another good variety. It grows into a smaller shrub than the above and the color is a little deeper. All Heathers should be planted in full sunshine and where they have good drainage. Never plant Heather in lawns for there they receive too much water.

They are fussy about food also and if given an overdose of fertilizer, will become sick at once. If your heather begins to look yellow in the foliage, look for two things to be the matter—too much water or too much fertilizer, or both.

Chorizema—An extremely beautiful shrub that is half climbing if trained against some support. The foliage is holly-leaf shaped and the blossoms on slender sprays are pansy shaped, in orange and thoroughly watered for the first few weeks of their growth, but when blooming season begins, too much water may cause the buds to fall from the stems, in which case sprinkling or irrigation should cease, and cultivation should be practiced, leaving a loose mulch of soil on the surface. Do not cultivate too deeply or too close to the plants themselves as there is danger of disturbing the root system.

Best results are obtained by inoculating sweet pea seeds with a bacterial culture before planting.

cerise. The Chorizema will grow in either sun or shade but we believe it really does best where it gets just the morning sun.

Ploma Splenders—The brilliant purple blossoms of this shrub always commands attention. The foliage is thick and velvety. The plant is apt to grow tall and leggy and should be pruned just as soon as it is through blooming. The plant will grow in full sun or partially shady spots.

Conservation Plan By Legion Posts To Win Silver Trophy

American Legion posts in Southern California counties, including Santa Barbara County, will compete for a conservation trophy offered by the Los Angeles County Conservation Association for the best program of conservation activity during 1931.

The trophy will be a silver cup and will be perpetual. It is awarded as a means of recognizing the importance of conservation activity undertaken by various Legion posts throughout this portion of the State, and as a means of stimulating interest in the care of natural resources.

A similar trophy has been awarded for the past three years, and is now the property of Pasadena Post No. 13, by whom it had been won three successive times.

The cup this year will be awarded at the State Convention of the American Legion.

BAR ASSOCIATION ISSUES A WARNING

Trustees of the Los Angeles Bar Association have issued a statement warning depositors of the Guaranty Building and Loan Association of Hollywood against lawyers who are soliciting claims against the looted building and loan association. Solicitation of such business by a lawyer is prohibited by Bar Associations—the statement says and it suggests the desirability of careful consideration before anyone places his claim in the hands of a lawyer who is breaching the generally accepted ethics.

The bureau of standards says that the length of time that a sound will remain perceptible after the source of the sound has ceased operating depends on several factors. The volume of the room, the nature of its interior finish and the intensity of the initial sound.

Fire Flames

By one of the boys

LAST MEETING night brought forth many tales of the dancing ability of our most prominent firemen. George Norris told of Captain Swanson's pleasant evening, as to how he seemed to dance every dance. Joe is supposed to have weak ankles, but the thrill of dancing with all the beautiful ladies gave him a very good footing. He and Frank Lovell will win the candy for being the most popular men at dancing, although George Norris danced often enough to keep out of the class of "also rans."

If there was anyone who attended our Xmas Dance that didn't enjoy it, we would be glad to hear from them. Many persons remarked about what a wonderful time they had. As far as can be learned, the crowd at this party was the largest and most congenial gathering in the history of our Xmas "classics."

At this time we will apologize for the "punch" that was served. We had appointed a "punch" committee which included George Norris. When "punch" time arrived George was so busy dancing that he instructed Roy Walsworth and Jim Heasley to manufacture the punch and neither of them having had any experience, they proceeded with the fatal result. However, the drink was absolutely pure and very wholesome. There was sufficient material and equipment to make four batches and these two skin-flints put all the material into one "batch." The material included five cans of crushed pineapple, four quarts of grape juice and gallons of lemon juice, not to mention pounds and pounds of sugar.

After declaring the dance a success, we want to thank the many people for their willing support. The boys all report that everyone was very nice to them during the ticket selling campaign. Each year we find that our townsfolk are better acquainted with our Xmas intention. This makes less effort to raise the required quota. There were so many people that helped us in a great many ways, that it would require too much time and work from our busy secretary to write each one an individual letter of appreciation, so we hope that everyone will feel that we are very grateful for their support.

At our last meeting, most of the boys turned in their cash and tickets.

We find that we have sufficient to carry the expense. The money raised for this affair is an entirely separate fund and is used only for this purpose. An accurate account in detail is on file at the Chief's desk. Much credit for the success of this annual event must go to Chief Richards, who gives a great part of his time to fire department work. During the progress of the arrangements, each year "Bill" looks after every little detail, from planning on how to sell tickets, to the filling of the baskets, etc. In this, the Chief has the full cooperation of every member of the Fire Department.

When the ticket selling report was turned in last week, as per usual, Mr. Hibbs was the leading salesman, altho' Don Hosford, Frank Lovell, and Guy Scott gave Lee a run for his reputation. Hibbs turned in over $100.

RARE RIDING COMFORT

Sparkling new beauty
Brilliant performance

Performance, reliability, beauty and low price are not enough. Today, motor cars must also be comfortable and easy to drive.

Such qualities are no longer limited to costly cars, for Hudson-Exsex—to beauty, performance, reliability and low price—has added rare riding and driving ease.

This smoothness is secured by practically vibrationless motors, four hydraulic shock absorbers and well-sprung cushions. All controls are easy to reach and operate. Insulated bodies eliminate distracting noises.

Both cars are distinctive in appearance. Interiors are smartly done. Brilliance in speed and acceleration is greatly enhanced by larger motors that assure long, quiet performance and unusual economy.

Surely this describes the cars you would like to own! See them today at our showrooms or telephone for a demonstration.

RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says "Consumption is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming the habit or ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderly at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall Drug Store.

in the Valley

Assurance of improvement of more than two miles of Valley boulevard, from the eastern limits of Alhambra to the western limits of Rosemead, one of the few remaining portions of this highway given Monday in the action of the board of supervisors who voted county aid amounting to $121,000 for the work.

At their annual meeting last week the Irwindale Citrus Association members discovered they had netted $565,783.14 for the 118,473 boxes of oranges marketed this year as against $417,000 for 1925, 324 boxes last year.

The funeral of W. R. Powell, pioneer citizen of Covina, attracted early settlers from every section of the San Gabriel Valley, many of whom had worked with him to clear what are now beautiful orange groves, of cactus and sage brush.

Hemet shippers have just contracted to supply a turkey hatchery at Wellman, Ia., with 50,000 turkey eggs a year.

A suggestion that Hemet shall change its name at a mass meeting of its citizens has been received with a storm of disapproval and the suggestion that those who don't like the city's name might well move on to a town with a name that strikes their fancy better.

With total gross f.o.b. returns of $3,007,361.61, the Covina orange growers experienced the most successful year in their history, the secretary-manager reported last week at the annual meeting of the board of directors of the exchange.

A 20-acre walnut grove at Covina has just been bought by a Long Beach citizen for $30,000.

A $100,000 Citrus grove deal affecting Cucamonga and Upland groves has just been closed. The principals are residents of Montana and Wyoming.

The 20-Acre McBurney orange grove, one of the most productive in the Claremont district, has been sold to Thomas Booz.

Practically assuring completion within a year of the Pines-to-Palms highway that will connect Hemet with the Coachella valley, and indicating that the appropriation of at least $150,000 will be used by the bureau of public roads on the lower portion of the Pines-to-Palms highway, while the county prison camp crew continues working on the upper end of the route, the federal department has authorized immediate survey of approximately 15 miles of this scenic road encircling the San Jacinto mountains.

"Stop" signs will be placed on streets intersecting with Ontario's Euclid avenue. Ontario city council has also decided that laborer's rather than mechanical apparatus shall be employed to dig a pipe line, to relieve the unemployment situation in that city.

Tujunga is the last of half a dozen nearby communities to "fire" its Chief of Police. It has gone a step further, however, and "canned" the judge, as well.

Walnut growers of the Puente district have received $329,860.70 for their 1930 crop, which is 64 per cent of the total value of the crop. A 14 per cent payment was made this week. This is only for the merchantable nuts, and does not take into account the values of blows and culls.

Average f.o.b. box returns of $4.34 for navels and $6.10 for Valencia were eclipsed only in 1918 when navels averaged $4.40 and Valencia, $6.51.

Covina is being harassed by burglars and hold-up men. Three homes in one block were robbed in one night last week. Several motorists have been held-up.

Frank B. Seeley, of Manzanita avenue, who has been confined to his home with a cold, is rapidly recovering.

Vast Majority Of Newcomers Are Not Broke And Jobless

Definite figures on the percentage of unemployed persons entering Southern California were contained in a survey made under the direction of Harvey C. Fremming, director of Employment Stabilization for Los Angeles County.

"We secured a definite check through questioning arrivals at the three border gateways for the purpose of determining the percentage of unemployed entering this section of the state by auto," said Director Fremming yesterday.

"Out of a total of 1820 cars questioned, 1670 cars, or 91.7 per cent, were well-financed families coming to spend the winter here as tourists.

"The remaining 150, or 8.3 per cent of the total, were looking for work. When asked why they came here seeking employment 111, or 74 per cent of this number, stated they came at the suggestion of their relatives or friends resident in this area."

WHY NOT A UNITED STATES OF EUROPE? ASKS FORUM SPEAKER

There is need not only for a union of European countries, but of all the countries of the world, said Pierre de Lanux, director of the Paris information bureau of the League of Nations, in an address to the last meeting of the Sierra Madre Forum at the Woman's club.

He reasoned that the European states all have separate governments, varying tariffs and standards of coinage, and have together a population four times as great as that of the United States. He said that there is not a need for something new, but a solution of existing conditions of disparity.

The speaker said, "We have a United States of America—why not a United States of Europe and then a United States of the World?" The idea of a European union is not a new one, de Lanux stated, but Briand was the first to have presented it in practical form.

gathered funds for the community party. This important feature of the city's Yule celebration attracted as many grown ups as children, though of course Santa Claus had eyes and gifts only for the eager children, 500 of whom were remembered.

Scarcely had Santa Claus completed this feature of his task than Christmas carols wafted through the night air as the choir of the Congregational church moved through the residential sections on the city truck bearing a brilliantly lighted Christmas tree.

At 4:30 on Thursday morning the choir of Bethany Church observed its annual custom and fared forth with the lighted traveling tree of gladness to announce the arrival of Christmas morning with carols.

Throughout Christmas the firemen and various clubs and organizations went about with their distribution of remembrances for the sick and needy. The firemen distributed 50 well filled baskets of food, delicacies and gifts. Committees from the Juniors of the Woman's Club under the direction of Mrs. Emile Smith, their president, distributed 165 packages to children of varying ages who wouldn't otherwise have shared in the joy of Christmas. Everywhere was the spirit of Christmas.
